"My journey as an Explorer Fellow, took me on an unforgettable two-month adventure across diverse Indian states. My exploration aimed to study the changing cropping patterns in different regions, but the experience went beyond to truly understanding our motherland by immersing myself in the rich cultural tapestry of India. This expedition was a mix of thrilling adventures and meaningful encounters along with its share of challenges like when I contracted the deadliest form of malaria during my stay in Sikkim. Fortunately, with the unwavering support of the IIT Gandhinagar, my friends, family, and professors, I overcame this ordeal. This deeply experiential and transformative journey allowed me to delve into the heart of India, witness its diversity, and truly understand and appreciate our motherland. It is a testament to the incredible power of exploration and the strength we gain from the challenges we face." - ARJUN MASC 23'
